

Summary

Gender differences between senior pre-scholars and psychological readiness towards studying

Gender differences between senior pre-scholars in their psychological readiness towards studying are being shown by the author, based on a huge empirical material.

Keywords: psychological readiness towards studying gender differences, girls and boys.

Semyonova Tatiana Semyonovna – Candidate of Psychology, senior lecturer at Pedagogy and Primary and Special Education Psychology Department of Penza State Pedagogical University, Penza.

Factors of research activity intensification among senior pre-scholars during the process of physical education

Modern situation in pre-school education is being characterized by intense increase of knowledge necessary for child's understanding and further successful graduation to junior school. This often leads to restriction in moving activity, which leads to dissatisfaction in pre-scholars' need of movement, the result of hypodynamics being dysfunctions in psychical and physical assets and development of chronic illness.

Keywords: pre-scholars' physical education, plot-role rhythmic gymnastics, integration of movement and research activity, physiological factors, intensification of research activity on physical education lessons, sports project.

Fomina Natalia Aleksandrovna – PhD in Pedagogy, professor at Theory and Method of Physical Education Department of Volgograd State Physical Education Academy, Volgograd; Lukina Svetlana Vladimirovna – head of kindergarten № 79, Volzhsky, Volgograd region.

Key objectives of education development in Chelyabinsk area

Issues of education development in Chelyabinsk area in aspect of national educating initiative "Nasha novaya shkola" are being reviewed in the article; experience of its main aspects implementation is being offered.

Keywords: education development, national educating initiative "Nasha novaya shkola".

Sadyrin Vladimir Vitalievich – Candidate of Pedagogy, acting rector of Chelyabinsk State Pedagogical University, Chelyabinsk.

Pedagogical management model of senior pre-scholars' physical education

Structure-pithy aspects of authors' pedagogical management model of senior pre-scholars' physical education are being presented in the article. Targets setting and methods of their implementation during the interaction between pre-school education facility and family, regarding senior pre-scholars' physical education are being formulated.

Keywords: physical education, pedagogical management, modeling, senior pre-scholars.

Makarenko Viktor Grigorievich – Candidate of Pedagogy, professor at Sport Disciplines Department, dean of Physical Culture and Life Safety Department of Chelyabinsk State Pedagogical University, Chelyabinsk.

English language textbook as a mean of rhetorical literacy increase

Rhetorical literacy significance, necessary for level increase when studying foreign and native tongues, is being considered in the article. Characteristic of rhetorical component offered in textbook series "Angliyskiy yazik" is given. Examples of communicative-verbal situations are being analyzed, speech genres common for Englishmen and Russians communication are being considered. Possibility of their compare-contrast study is being revealed.

Keywords: English language textbook, rhetorical literacy, speech genres, communicative appropriateness, situation and cultural studies authenticity.

Orshanskaya Yevgenia Gennadievna – Candidate of Pedagogy, senior lecturer at Foreign Languages Department of Siberia State Industrial University, Novokuznetsk, Kemerovo region.

Development of figurative and logical thinking among junior scholars by means of tutoring chess-playing

The article is devoted to justification of chess' methodical possibilities during intellectual development of junior school age children. Main goals and principles of tutoring chess in junior school are being considered, chess' place and role in the system of education disciplines is being determined. Crossobjective ties of chess during the course of junior school is being reviewed.

Keywords: chess, combinative thinking, logical thinking, crossobjective ties, children of senior pre-school and junior school age.

Brestel Tatiana Gennadievna – head of private elementary school "Obraz", Chelyabinsk.

Motivation of senior school readers' and literature-creative activity

The article is devoted to the problem of motivation crisis overcoming during literature course teaching. Development of readers' motivational activity is one of ways to achieve reader's self-actualization. The author suggests a variety of reading activity motives.

Keywords: literature course teaching, readers' activity, motive, motivation, readers' self-actualization.

Terentyeva Nina Pavlovna – Candidate of Pedagogy, senior lecturer at Chelyabinsk State Pedagogical University, Chelyabinsk.

Modular approach in person-oriented education with the use of computer technologies

The article is devoted to studying of modular approach abilities in the process of person-oriented education with the use of computer technologies, represented by authors' multimedia projects of three bases: receiving information, practice and control of education results.

Keywords: modular approach, person-oriented education, computer technologies, multimedia process.

Fyodorova (Zyubina) Evgenia Vladimirovna – applicant at Pedagogy Department of North-Ossetian State University in the name of K. Hetagurov, Vladikavkaz, Republic of North Ossetia–Alania.